We are born with few values and rights. These values are further polished in educational institutions. The aim of education is to change a person into a valuable human being.

What do the above pictures say?

Good values

Good values are the qualities of a person that keep the society running. These qualities can be developed by all. The term civic relates to people or civilian or citizen of a country. People should live together in unity. Despite all the disparities, living together in harmony is a significant value. Helping others is also an important value.
